The Space Systems Engineering subspecialty code (5500) is intended to provide a command with an officer who has the technical knowledge to plan and manage the development, design, acquisition, operation, tasking and employment of space surveillance, communications, navigation and atmospheric/oceanographic/environmental sensing systems throughout their lifecycle. The following is a representative sample of requirements for which this subspecialty applies:

1. Formulate operational requirements, plans, policies, architectures, operational concepts, doctrine and tactics for development and employment of space systems and the information products, or the distribution, correlation and analysis of their information products.

2. Technical knowledge of the space environment, spacecraft design and operation, space systems technologies (e.g. launch systems, astronautics, spectral sensors, communications).

4. Perform liaison with other services, agencies, and/or industry concerning policy and procedures for requirements development and analysis for the design, acquisition and operational employment of space systems, ground support segments and their information products.

5. Perform technical evaluation of space systems design and performance.

6. Provide recommendations to senior decision-makers regarding space systems engineering.

Billet subspecialty coding is to be based on the minimum education/training/experience level required for optimum performance. Space Systems Engineering - 5500 subspecialty coding is justified when, in addition to the general criteria stated in NAVPERS 15839 series (Manual of Navy Officer Manpower and Personnel Classification) Part B, the following specific criteria are satisfied:

1. Subspecialty Coding Restrictions
   a. Billets assigned to: 1000 - 1000 / 1001 - 1019 / 1021 - 1049 / 1050 - 1050 / 1051 - 1099 / 1100 - 1109 / 1110 -
      1119 / 1120 - 1129 / 1130 - 1139 / 1140 - 1159 / 1160 -
      1169 / 1170 - 1179 / 1180 - 1189 / 1190 - 1199 / 1200 -
